The Numbers Add Up!

What's the best way to bounce back from a 4-0 defeat in your first ever school game? Just rock up at 7:30am the next morning with a smile on your face and the will to improve!

There has been a fantastic attitude from all the students who get themselves out of bed over the past week for morning football training. It is great to see the commitment and attitude from every player.

You Could...

- You could misbehave and get sent out of lesson...
- You could be disruptive and deter your learning...
- You could choose not to participate in school and further your knowledge...
- You could be horrible to your friends and the people who look after you...
- You could...
- OR
- You could be the best you can be...
- You could be the hardest worker in the room...
- You could want it so bad that nothing is impossible... Just like these familiar faces...

In the end you have to ask yourself one question; has anything you've done actually made your life better?
